

THE AMBULANCE TRAIN FOR THE SAMMIES

An interior view of one of the 16 cars of the new ambulance train which has been constructed for the American Expeditionary forces, by the Midland Railway Co., of England. American officers are inspecting the train. As the picture shows, everything possible has been done to make it comfortable for the Sammies who are wounded and to give them every chance which latest apparatus can afford. Every inch of space in the cars has been utilized.

300 People See the Income Tax Agents

Today and tomorrow the income agents will be in Mannington. On Wednesday they will be in Glover's Gap and on Thursday at Hammond, winding up the county by sitting at Worthington on Friday. They will return to Fairmont again during the middle of February after a trip to Monongalia county.

During Saturday 300 people visited the income agents at the county court's room in the court house.

EVER GET A "KINK" IN YOUR BACK?

Is Often Nature's Warning of a Serious Ailment to Follow Unless Steps Are Taken to Relieve It.

A GOOD TONIC NEEDED.

Ever get a "kink" in your back when you straighten up after bending over your work? Do you wake up in the morning with a feeling as if your back will break just above your hips? Do you have to get up often at night? Then you had better take steps to relieve the trouble for it is but nature's way of warning you that a serious ailment will follow.

That "kink" indicates that your kidneys, liver or stomach are out of order and if neglected may result in Bright's disease, torpid liver, acute indigestion and a great many other ills all caused by neglect of the system.

A good tonic of known value, taken at the first indication of the trouble may prove to be the "stitch in time." Such a tonic is Hypo-Cod the great flesh and strength builder. This splendid tonic gets right down to the seat of the trouble and cures it—smooth and gentle in its action, powerful in its results.

Hypo-Cod cleanses the waste matter from the system, strengthens the digestive organs so that they can extract the full nourishment from your blood, helps make rich pure blood, and drives out uric acid (the cause of rheumatism) stimulates the appetite, increases weight and doubles the strength in a remarkably little while.

Hypo-Cod is effective because it contains nothing but the very valuable medicinal extractives from fresh cod livers, malt, iron, quinine, lime, manganese, hypophosphates, wild cherry bark, aromatic and other medicinal properties used by physicians and in hospitals for years in the effective treatment of all ailments of the system.

By using Hypo-Cod faithfully as directed you can hope to avoid headaches, backache, pains in stomach, enjoy a hearty appetite, increase your weight, develop a ruddy complexion, enjoy sound digestion, sleep well, and improve in health generally.

Hypo-Cod is very pleasant to take. No Sickening or nauseating mixture to upset the stomach. The delightful wine-like flavor is easily assimilated by the most delicate stomach and you'll hardly realize that you are taking medicine until you see its results.

You can get a large bottle of Hypo-Cod from your druggist for only $1.20 which contains enough of this splendid tonic to treat the average family for weeks, since a tablespoonful before meals and at bedtime is a dose. Just get a bottle of Hypo-Cod today and in a little while you'll enjoy that happy feeling that comes only from a sound, healthy body. Sold in Fairmont by Fairmont Pharmacy, Crane's drug store, Holt Drug Co., Mountain City Drug Co. and Hall's drug store.

The West Virginian is a Woman's Newspaper

By that we do not mean that it prints a few features labeled "for women" and then dismisses woman as something unworthy of further consideration. Many newspapers do that, and it has won the merited resentment of high spirited members of the sex.

The West Virginian Way is Different— in Principle and in Execution

The West Virginian recognizes woman's importance in the present day world and it does it frankly, fully and without the slightest effort to be patronizing. We have a Woman's page devoted to the household—but we also have a sport page devoted to amateur athletics and a financial department. These are mere classifications for the convenience of readers. They help people to find what they want and to avoid what they do not want in the paper. Where The West Virginian is in advance of every other West Virginia newspaper is in the news and editorial policy which treats woman as in every way the equal of man.

The West Virginian takes care that subjects in which women are interested are presented fully and fairly and with adequate editorial comment. Many newspapers think it the proper thing to make their editorial pages for men only. Incidentally that explains the declining influence of some newspapers. In The West Virginian all matter is treated in accordance with what we conceive to be its importance and its interest. Subjects which are of especial interest to women are frequently commented upon. That this is appreciated is proved by the fact that many women regularly read our editorials. They write us about the articles and show that they are as keenly alive to the topics of the day as are men—more so in many instances, to tell the full truth.

All of this sets a new standard in West Virginia journalism. Are you, madam, a regular reader of
